3 Objectives

(1) Outsourcing of supervised entities' activities is covered by financial market regulation. In arranging outsourcing, supervised entities may seek to increase the efficiency, flexibility and competitiveness of their operations. However, responsibility for the outsourced activities remains with the supervised entity, and therefore supervised entities' internal control and risk management must also extend to outsourced activities. Supervised entities must send FIN-FSA advance notification of intentions to outsource material activities.

(2) These regulations aim at ensuring that outsourcing does not in any way impair the criteria for the supervised entity's authorisation and that the supervised entity's operations, also with respect to the outsourced activities, have been arranged so that they are in compliance with all obligations laid down in legal requirements and FIN-FSA regulations and guidelines for internal control and risk management.

(3) The purpose is also to ensure that outsourcing does not impair the possibilities of the supervised entity's management to direct and monitor activities or to obtain an overall picture of the supervised entity's risks. Supervised entities must be able to and capable of managing risks, irrespective of outsourcing.

(4) Furthermore, the purpose is to ensure that, in using outsourced information technology resources via so-called cloud services\(^1\), supervised entities ensure in particular that the risks involved with the services are managed, the continuity of the services is secured and that data protection is assured. (Issued on 4.11.2014, valid from 1.1.2015)

(5) These regulations and guidelines are designed to ensure that outsourcing does not impair FIN-FSA supervision and inspection of supervised entities' activities.

\(^1\) The supervised entity uses software, hardware or other services offered by an outside provider, via the information network.
4 Conditions for outsourcing

4.1 Functioning of risk management and internal control

(1) Supervised entities to which chapter 5 section 10 subsection 1 of the Credit Institutions Act and section 26 a subsection 2 of the Mutual Funds Act are applicable may carry out their business through representatives or otherwise outsource activities material to their operations, unless this is likely to be detrimental to the institution’s risk management or internal control or would significantly hinder the conduct of the institution’s business. (Issued on 4.11.2014, valid from 1.1.2015)

(2) According to chapter 3 section 4 subsection 2 of the Act on trading in financial instruments, the exchange may outsource any activity material to its operations, other than the operation of a regulated market, unless this is likely to be detrimental to the exchange’s risk management or internal control or its business or other material activities. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018)

(3) According to section 23 subsection 1 of the Payment Institutions Act, payment institutions may outsource activities material to the provision of payment services, unless this is likely to be significantly detrimental to the institution’s internal control.

4.2.1 General

(4) Supervised entities to which chapter 5 section 11 of the Credit Institutions Act, section 26 a subsection 7 of the Mutual Funds Act, and section 23 subsection 5 of the Payment Institutions Act are applicable shall ensure that outsourcing partners continuously provide them with all information necessary for official supervision, risk management and internal control, and that they have the right to forward such information to the Financial Supervisory Authority. Furthermore, a credit institution must ensure that it has the right to forward the information to the central body of the amalgamation of deposit banks, if it is under the inspection of the central body. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018)

(5) Section 23 subsection 1 of the Payment Institutions Act stipulates that payment institutions may outsource activities material to the provision of payment services, unless this is likely to be significantly detrimental to the supervision conducted by the Financial Supervisory Authority.

(6) According to chapter 3 section 4 subsection 2 of the Act on trading in financial instruments, the exchange may outsource a function with material impact on its operation, with the exception of the operation of a regulated market, if the outsourcing does not hinder the supervision conducted by the Financial Supervisory Authority. According to chapter 3 section 4 subsection 5 of the Act, the exchange must obtain the information required for the purposes of regulatory supervision and surrender it further to the Financial Supervisory Authority. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018).

(7) By virtue of section 24 subsection 2 of the Act on the Financial Supervision Authority, FIN-FSA shall, confidentiality provisions notwithstanding, have the right to obtain all information that is necessary for supervisory purposes at the place of business of a company which acts as the supervised entity’s representative or a company which, by order of the supervised entity, performs tasks pertaining to the accounting, information system or risk management or other internal control of the supervised entity. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018)

4.2.2 Outsourcing of a management company’s investment activities to non-EEA states

(9) Section 26 b subsection 2 of the Mutual Funds Act stipulates that management companies may outsource investment activities to representatives registered in non-EEA states only if adequate provision has been made for cooperation between the relevant foreign supervisory authority and FIN-FSA.

GUIDELINE (PARAGRAPH 10)

(10) Cooperation between a relevant foreign supervisory authority and FIN-FSA, as referred to in paragraph 9 above, may be regarded as adequately provided for if the foreign authority has undersigned the Multilateral Memorandum of Understanding Concerning Consultation and Cooperation and the Exchange of Information issued by IOSCO in 2002. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 2.1.2018)

4.3 Conditions for outsourcing the activities of the exchange

(11) With respect to outsourcing of the activities of the exchange, FIN-FSA issues, by virtue of chapter 3 section 36 subsection 1 paragraph 2 of Act on trading in financial instruments, the following regulations in paragraphs 12–15 on conditions for outsourcing exchange activities as referred to in chapter 3 section 4 of the Act. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018)

Payment institutions shall also ensure that outsourcing partners have adequately arranged the related internal control and risk management.
GUIDELINE (PARAGRAPHS 22–25)

(22) FIN-FSA recommends that payment institutions should, in their contingency planning, also provide for disruptions in outsourcing partners’ services and require that they have contingency plans of their own.

(23) FIN-FSA recommends that payment institutions should ensure that outsourcing partners have taken measures to safeguard confidentiality of data related to the supervised entity and its customers.

(25) In outsourcing material activities, FIN-FSA recommends that payment institutions should ensure that outsourcing partners comply, as applicable, with FIN-FSA regulations and guidelines and other legal provisions such as those referring to the marketing of financial services and to customer protection.

4.5 Material activities

(26) In supervised entities to which chapter 5 section 36 a subsection 2 of the Credit Institutions Act, section 26 a subsection 3 of the Mutual Fund Acts, and chapter 3 section 4 subsection 3 of the Act on trading in financial instruments, are applicable, activities are regarded as material if they are of such importance that any failure or weakness in carrying them out could have a significant impact on the supervised entity’s ability to comply with legal provisions, regulations or guidelines issued under such provisions, or authorisation criteria, the supervised entity’s financial standing or the continued conduct of business. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018)

(27) According to section 23 subsection 2 of the Payment Institutions Act, activities are regarded as material to a payment institution’s operations if they are of such importance that any defect or failure in them would materially impair the payment institution’s ability to comply with legal provisions, regulations or guidelines issued under such provisions, or authorisation criteria, the payment institution’s financial performance or the soundness or the continuity the provision of payment services.

5 Outsource of activities requiring authorisation

(1) In outsourcing activities requiring authorisation, supervised entities shall also take account of regulations and guidelines in chapter 4 on general conditions for outsourcing and requirements in chapter 6 set for risk management.

(2) Section 26 b subsection 2 of the Mutual Funds Act stipulates that representatives used by management companies to carry out investment activities shall be enterprises that are appropriately authorised or registered and subject to prudential supervision.

GUIDELINE (PARAGRAPH 3)

(3) Credit institutions may outsource other activities requiring authorisation than investment services either to representatives or entities appropriately authorised.

5.2 Outsourcing of management company activities

(4) According to section 26 b subsection 1 of the Mutual Funds Act, utilising representatives must not prevent management companies from acting in the interest of unit holders of the mutual funds they manage.

(5) According to section 26 b subsection 2 of the Mutual Funds Act, management companies that utilise representatives to manage their investment activities shall regularly inform representatives on their basic investment policies.

(6) According to section 26 b subsection 3 of the Mutual Funds Act, tasks relating to the management of mutual funds must not be assigned to depositories of the mutual funds concerned or to other enterprises whose interests may conflict with the interests of the management company or the unit holders concerned. Any agreement that transfers a management company’s responsibilities to a third party is invalid.

(7) As regards tasks relating to the management of mutual funds and duties of depositories referred to in section 31a of the Mutual Funds Act, a management company or its representative, according to section 26 b subsection 4 of the Mutual Funds Act, may not have any staff in common with a depository of a mutual fund that it manages. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018)

GUIDELINE (PARAGRAPHS 10–12)

Management companies should ensure that investment activities are managed in compliance with mutual fund rules and investment policy agreements.

If the keeping of fund unit registers is fully outsourced, it must be managed by an authorised registrar. If registering of new unit holders is outsourced, management companies should be in charge of the overall maintenance of the fund unit register. Management companies may, for example, keep registers of Finnish unit holders themselves and outsource the registry of foreign unit holders.

Despite outsourcing, management companies should always retain the right to execute subscription and redemption orders, including registration, in fund unit registers.
6 Risk management of outsourced activities

(1) Supervised entities to which chapter 5 section 11 of the Credit Institutions Act, section 26a subsection 7 of the Mutual Funds Act, chapter 3 section 4 subsection 5 of the Act on trading in financial instruments, and section 23 subsection 5 of the Payment Institutions Act, are applicable, shall ensure that outsourcing partners continuously provide them with all information necessary for official supervision, risk management and internal control. (Issued on 23.1.2018, valid from 1.2.2018)

• selection of the outsourcing partner and monitoring of the outsourced activity
• issues dealt with in the outsourcing agreement
• safeguarding the continuity of activities
• decision-making process for outsourcing.

(3) FIN-FSA recommends that the decision to outsource material activities always be preceded by an overall review of the risks for the project, taking into account the scope and importance of the activities concerned. The review should consider the risks of the new outsourcing project and outsourcing arrangements already made and provide for the management of those risks. Risk reviews should be updated on a regular basis.

(4) FIN-FSA recommends that supervised entities ensure that outsourcing partners have the necessary resources and skills as well as financial capacity and expertise to handle the tasks involved. Supervised entities should have procedures in place for assessing the performance of outsourcing partners.

(5) FIN-FSA recommends that supervised entities, in their contingency planning, also provide for disruptions in outsourcing partners’ services and require that they have contingency plans of their own.
(6) FIN-FSA recommends that supervised entities ensure that outsourcing partners have taken measures to safeguard confidentiality of data related to the supervised entity and its customers.

(7) FIN-FSA recommends that supervised entities maintain key areas of competence relating to outsourced activities, enabling them to resume the management of any outsourced activity (known as ‘insourcing’) or transfer them to another supplier.

(8) FIN-FSA recommends that in outsourcing material activities, supervised entities ensure that outsourcing partners comply, as applicable, with FIN-FSA regulations and guidelines and other legal provisions such as those referring to the marketing of financial services and customer protection as well as good practice in the provision of banking and securities services.

- The outsourcing partner’s financial resources and staff skills are inadequate
- The services provided by the outsourcing partner do not meet the supervised entity’s quality criteria
- Information security of an outsourced activity has not been safeguarded. Secret or confidential information has not been protected or its non-disclosure has not been ensured in a reliable manner, e.g. via encryption of data communications, protection of records, and rights management and access control.
- The outsourcing partner does not follow binding rules for the activities in question or the code of conduct in the markets concerned
- The monitoring of the supervised entity’s counterparty risk becomes difficult if decision-making on customer relationships is outsourced
- Uncertainties surrounding cross-border outsourcing where application and interpretation of contractual law is concerned.

(10) FIN-FSA recommends that supervised entities’ risk management be safeguarded in the eventuality that an outsourcing partner passes on outsourced activities to a third party.

(11) FIN-FSA recommends that supervised entities subject to these regulations and guidelines comply with the EBA Recommendations on outsourcing to cloud service providers referred to in chapter 2.5. (Issued on 23.1.2018, applicable from 1.7.2018)

- the outsourcing partner’s right to transfer contractual tasks to a third party and a statement on whether this requires the supervised entity’s consent
